

JULIA MORGAN CENTER TREEHOUSE DECK

The tree house deck design transformed this underutilized corner of the school play yard, turning the area into a center of activity, play and learning.

IMD completed conceptual design, design detailing and installation of this tree deck surrounding a Redwood in the rear yard of the Julia Morgan Center for the Performing Arts. The deck serves the two and three year old class and staff at the highly regarded Hearts Leap School run by the International Child Resource Institute. The deck design responds to building architect Julia Morgan's materials palette and design details and provides for continued growth of the tree that it encircles.
